Variations

Any door design available in the square or arched top pattern is also available in double arched, round, or double round patterns, making our extensive range more diverse to ensure everyone can find the look they're after.

Series Four Doors

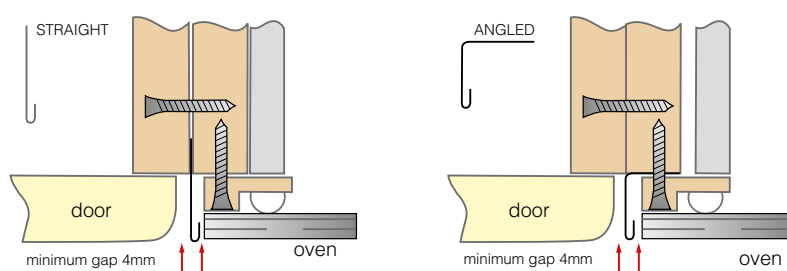

Other variations that can be added to any square, arched, double arched, round or double round pattern door are standard lines, tails and other specialty lines. Add one or use a combination of different elements to make your kitchen one of a kind.

We can also custom manufacture doors to your specific requirements.

Heat Deflectors

Exposure to high heat over long periods of time may cause damage to timber, painted, thermo laminated or melamine doors and panels.

When installing appliances we recommend that the appliance manufacturer's installation specifications are adhered to. Where possible the appliances should have a ducted exhaust configuration.
